

JOSEPH SMITH

After leaving a position of secure employment I am proud that this risk has rewarded me with a variety of work in an industry I have a real passion for. I now have over three years of multimedia production experience, working in a wide range of settings and teams. I'm confident, personable and eager to exceed expectations, and would be a huge asset to the right organisation.

EMPLOYMENT

Freelance Film Work (August '14 - Current)

I decided to go freelance, as it would mean more involvement and responsibility on projects that I could manage myself. I currently offer a number of services including filming with DSLR cameras, directing small crews of people in shoots and editing films.

Example clients include:

ATOS (IT Services)

Film CIO Health conference - filming with DSLRs, recording sound and lead editor

GUTS - Fighting Bowel Cancer (Charity)

Consultation on content that is engaging and shareable, primarily on social media.

Create animation - story boarding, animation and lead editor

Create films of fundraising events - filming with DSLRs, recording sound and lead editor

Office Pantry (Catering Services)

Create a brand film – story boarding, filming with DSLRs, recording sound and lead editor

Arrange (Musician)

Create promotional film for new album – story boarding, sourcing archive clips and lead editor

Qurated Network (Employment Services)

Filming business conference - filming with DSLRs, recording sound and lead editor

The7Stars (Media Agency)

Creating showreels, videography & photography - lead editor and videographer/photographer

Short Form Film Company (August '13 - August '14)

Starting as a runner I was quickly given responsibility to become involved in a number of different projects including:

University of Westminster

Creating a series of internet adverts - filming with DSLRs, recording sound and assistant editor

Rugby Football Union

Creating internet promotion videos - filming with DSLRs, recording sound and lead editor

Babybel

Creating national TV advert - DIT and assistant editor

Advanced Apprenticeship, PMO Analyst - Capgemini

(September '09 - July '13)

My experience at Capgemini gave me a good understanding of corporate client delivering professional services.
